

make you so happy you're gonna jump right through the roof.

Jenny: What, Pa?

Ben: The first stage that's comin' through to St. Louis I'm gonna put you on so's you can go East.

Jenny: Huh?

Ben: You're gonna go East to school like you always wanted. Become a doctor. Ain't you happy.

Jen: You're comin' with me, ain't you Pa??

Ben: Me? 'Course not. I can't leave my very own ~~xxx~~ town, can I? This here is gonna be a big city!
cook

Jen: But Pa, who's gonna ~~xxxx~~ for you, mend your clothes, take care of you when you start stumblin' full of whiskey. Criminy, the other night I woke up and there you were buildin' a fire under your own bed to keep yourself warm.

Ben: Aw, I'll manage. For you, I'll have to. You think about it. (Exit Ben)

How Can I Wait (Exit Jenny)
(Enter Mormons)

Narrator: As Rumson Town grows, more and more prospective travelers come to town. Even Jacob, the good Mormon and his two wives, come in to settle a claim. Unfortunately, Jacob's second wife, Elizabeth, is not too thrilled with her current status as the working wife while Sarah has been receiving all Jacob's affection.

Jacob: Elizabeth and Sarah, the fog is rising a bit. I think I see a camp on the next hill. Must be Rumson Town.

Sarah: Suppose they chase us out of town like all the other towns we been in.

Jacob: Then we'll just keep on movin', I reckon.
Sarah, come on with me. Elizabeth, why don't you stay here and set up camp. (Exit Jacob, and Sarah)

A Million Miles Behind the Door (Enter Choir)

Miner 1: Well, hello, mister. Who are you?

Jacob: Hello; I'm Jacob Woodling. And ~~xxx~~ this here's my wife, Sarah.

Miner 1: And who's this? Your sister?
